ICYMI: Cruz: This Deal Sells the American People Down the River

Last night U.S. Senators Ted Cruz (R-Texas) and Mike Lee (R-Utah) joined Sean Hannity on Fox News to give their reaction to the deal struck by the Senate that fails to provide relief from Obamacare to the American people.

Excerpts from Sen. Cruz:

"This is a lousy deal for the American people. This is sadly a classic instance of the Washington establishment selling the American people down the river. This deal does nothing for millions of people who are hurting because of Obamacare... It is an unfortunate instance of the Washington establishment once again not listening to the American people.

"If Senate Republicans had united and supported House Republicans, supported the American people, we could have had a different outcome, but instead Senate Republicans divided and, in fact, actively and aggressively attacked House Republicans, attacked the effort to defund Obamacare and that's what led to the lousy deal.

"There is reason to take heart and be encouraged. This deal was a lousy deal. But if you look at what was accomplished, a couple of months ago the Washington establishment scoffed at the idea that the American people would rise up in overwhelming numbers. The Washington establishment scoffed at the idea that the House of Representatives would stand strong against Obamacare. And what we have seen in the last two months has been incredible... We've also seen a model that I think is the model going forward to defeat Obamacare to bring back jobs, economic growth, to abolish the IRS, to reign in out of control spending. And that model is empowering the American people. I remain inspired because the people all over the country who rose up and made DC listen, the House of Representatives listen. And I'm confident in time the United States Senate will as well."

U.S. CONGRESSMAN BLAKE FARENTHOLD: "SENATE PROPOSAL DIDN'T GO FAR ENOUGH"

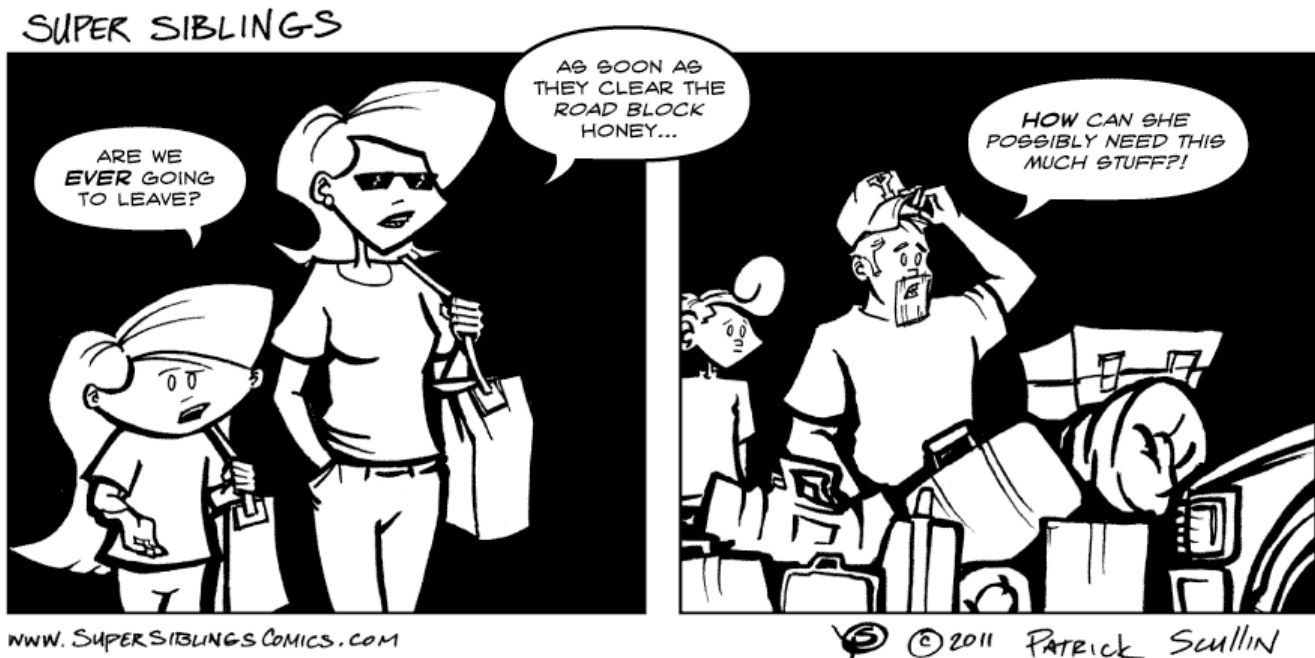

Congressman Blake Farenthold (TX-27) issued the following statement today after the House voted on the Senate proposal that keeps decreased spending levels, requires income verification for Obamacare subsidies, reopens the government, and raises the debt ceiling.

"While I am relieved the Senate proposal allows the country to pay its bills, keeps agreed upon spending levels and requires people to verify their income when seeking subsidies under Obamacare, it did not go far enough in solving our financial crisis to win my support.

"Over the past 16 days, the House has offered proposal after proposal to end the government shutdown, and give the American people the same exemptions from Obamacare that the President gave to his allies and members of Congress.

"The Senate and the President refused to negotiate with the House on any of these proposals, prolonging the government shutdown, driving us to the brink of default, and making this whole situation as painful as possible for political gain.

"I remain committed to making sure America doesn't default on our debts, but believe we must cut up the credit card and find ways to grow our economy first. We are the greatest nation in the world and defaulting on our debts threatens that standing. But instead of identifying long-term ways to decrease spending, the plan passed Wednesday night protects the status quo in Washington. That's what disappointed me about the proposal, and that's why I ultimately could not support it."

Springtime is upon us. You are invited to take a stroll in the bluebonnets, find an arrowhead or observe wildlife while touring fine properties with live water and big time views.
